Introduction

This booklet is titled “The Championship Tradition of Bromfield Sports” because it first and foremost is a record of the championships that individuals and teams from The Bromfield School have won over the past twenty-eight years. Starting with Lynn Jennings in 1975 and the boys soccer team of 1979, there are many gaps in both individual and team accomplishments; however, there are plenty of facts that everyone will be glad to know and there are more than enough unknown seasons and accomplishments brought to light to make up for the glaring omissions that exist. Included below is an explanation of much of the lingo used throughout the booklet.

Leagues and the District

Over the period of time covered in this booklet, Bromfield competed in two separate leagues. Up until the 1996-97 school year, Bromfield was a member of the Dual Valley Conference (DVC for short). In 1996, Bromfield switched to the geographically favorable Midland-Wachusett League (Mid-Wach for short). While the DVC consisted of teams like Sutton, Hopedale, Douglas and Blackstone-Millville Regional High School, the Mid-Wach consists of teams such as Littleton, Ayer and Maynard, with a few variations between different sports. Currently, Bromfield is still a member of the Mid-Wach League.

As for the district, the Massachusetts Interscholastic Athletic Association (MIAA) divides the state into four different districts for competition: West, Central, Northeast and Southeast. Bromfield competes in the Central Massachusetts district. In this booklet, the terms "Central Mass." and "District" are synonymous. A topic not mentioned in this booklet is the division of Bromfield. The MIAA further splits each district into two or three divisions, depending on the sport. Divisions are used to allow schools to compete against schools of similar size. Due to Bromfield's small size, it always competes in the lowest possible division (division two for cross country, field hockey, indoor track, spring track and tennis; division three for soccer, basketball, baseball and softball).

In soccer, field hockey, basketball, tennis, baseball and softball, the winner of the district championship advances to the state semi-final. The state semi-final match is played between winners of the Central and West districts. If victorious in the semi-final, the team then advances to the state final to play against the winner of the other state semi-final played between the winners of the Northeast and Southeast districts. In cross country, indoor track and spring track, there is a district meet and a state wide meet to determine winners for the district and state, respectively. In indoor track, there are two state meets. The first consists of all the teams within a particular class (Bromfield competes in class "D") while the second "All-State" meet consists of teams from all classes.
